It is hardly necessary to point out just how Bolze's pull was worked, for it was common report then, as it is now, that although Mr. George C. Clausen, Park Commisioner, had resigned his position in the Sicilian Company, his interest did not cease. F. A. Bolze went into the park as foreman, and with him, as it is alleged, went a gang of men who had been regularly employed by the Sicilian Company. James Palamo who was mentioned yesterday, as the man who suggested to Leahy that by putting up $5.510 or $15 he could hold his position on the asphalt gang, and, perhaps, be advanced from a $1.56 lectileman, told an "Evening World" reporter that so soon as the appropriation was amounced, he, with others, was told there would be good places made for them in the Park. The average Italian looks upon a job in any of the city departments as one of the best things in the country, because the pay is sure. Consequently Palamo and his comparitors in the employ of the Sicilian Company, were happy, when the time came they went him to the nd his compatriots in the employ of the Sicilian Company, were happy. Then the time came they went into the sing superintended by Foreman A. H. Hullis. Palamo has two brothers—drian and David—and they, with others, went with him. They were kettlenen and were paid $2.50 a day. He admitted freely to the reporter, that ther he had been at work a week or for the relief of the unemployed men of New York there naturally was a rush for positions, not only by men out of work, but by men who had good places. Naturally one of the best places within the gift of the Park Board—a foremanship, with a salary of $100-fell to the lot of a man whose pull was quite sufficient to land him easily in what was looked upon as a good thing. He was F. A. Bolze, brother of Henry Bolze, general manager of the Sicilian Asphalt Paving Company.

It is hardly necessary to point out just how Bolze's pull was worked, for it was common report then, as it is now, that although Mr. George C. Clausen, Park Commissioner, had resigned his position in the Sicilian Company, his interest did not cease. F. A. Bolze went into the park as foreman, and with him, as it is alleged, went a gaing of men who had been regularly employed by the Sicilian Company.

James Palamo who was mentioned yesterday, as the man who suggested to Leaby that by putting up $5, $10 or $15 he could hold his position on the asphalt gang, and, perhaps, be advanced from a $1.76 laborer to a $2.50 kettleman, todd an "Evening World" reporter than as a gast good thing of it. When Mr. Bolze left to take this good position, Mr. Rockefeller offered to him, his place as foreman was taken by Mr. Schulzi, a man who had also been employed by the Sicilian Company. There never has been any doubt that property the said thas agodd thing of it. When Mr. Bolze left to take this good position, Mr. Rockefeller offered to him, his position of the lot of the week in the park as good thing, Mr. Rockefeller offered to him, his place as foreman was taken by Mr. Schulzi, a man who had also been employed by the Sicilian Company. There never has been any doubt that great frauds were perpetrated by means of these tickets, many of which were made out with fictitious names and takes addresses. For instance, on the pay-roil of the week ending March 31 appears the name of Samuel Reiwarts, with the addresses. For instance, on the pay-roil of the week ending March the place says no such person ever lived there.

Another person who doesn't seem to exist is Peter Getty, of 22 Baxter street. The rear house at that number is occumied by Italians, and the man in charge, who has been there for years, never heard of Peter Getty.

A number of men who were on the pay-roll were inhabitants of the lodging houses on Chatam square, the Bowery and Division street, but they are so irregular in their habits that they are so irregular in their habits that they are of the scenario of gaming all wellhood flave tiever yet been disappearing mysteriously. They are of the scenario and them disappearing mysteriously. They are of the scenario can be also be worth at least a few lines in the newspapers.

pitals, and finally end so suddenly is to be worth at least a few lines in the newspapers.

Out of a great number of these men whose existence is acknowledged or was, rather, acknowledged a few days agro-only two were found. They were David Bernbaum and H. Bindshandler, Germans, who live in a lodging-house last March made application to Commissioner Straus for some meal tickets, which were given to him. He distributed them among his guests. The two men whose names are given, worked awhile in the Park, but finally abandoned their places because they could not stand the heavy work. It was evident they had no politician to look after their interests, else they would have been able to look back to pleasant summer alestas, under shady park trees, at from $1.00 to $2.50 a day.

One man. Thomas Brennan, was on the pay-roll as living at I Chatham square. The place is a saloon and no one lives there. Brennan is known by the bartender, who says he comes in occasionally, but could give no further information except he was a good fellow and all right, which would mean, in that district, that when he has money, Brennow known that the highwaymen who looted the eastbound train last night, succeeded in securing about $15,000 m East from San Francisco to pay for a big bakery, and have for some days been selling a sixteen-ounce loaf for two cents. The head of the firm, Will-iam Hayden, is quoted as having said:

"We can manufacture a sixteen-ounce loaf of bread and sell it for two cents, and still make a small profit. At the present price for flour, bakers in Omaha can do the same and make money. Bread can be profitably manufactured and sold at the same price as long as

There is no difference in the price of flour in Omaha and in New York.

Every day "The Evening World" receives a batch of letters showing that the people are of one mind concerning the necessity of a reduction in the price of bread. Numerous schemes have been subject, to speak understandingly on a matter of great moment to the public.

It is, however, positively and author taitively stated by prominent officis that his resignation had absolutely not ling to do with the work of the special it spectors. His character is said by thee authorities to be without a blemish, and not the slightest irregularity could be laid against his account.

It is hinted that questions of discipline alone and friction with other heads of departments induced Mr. Maze's action. He is pre-eminently a self-made man. He entered the General Post-Office Department in New York thirty-one years ago and worked himself up by merit to Superintendent of Mails, to which position he was appointed on July 1, 188, by Postmaster Van Cott. Prior to his promotion he was Superintendent of the distributing department. He lives in Orange, N. J., where he has a comfortable home.
